> The fight made in the senate during yes terday and the day before is not strictly upon the merits of Mr. Renfroe's case, al though the merits have been largely discussed. The precise issue is upon an order" submitted by Mr. Cumming as to the manner of taking the vote. WHAT CUMMING'S ORDER IS.

It has been noticed by those who have read the proceedings carefully that each one favorable to a settlement of the state debt of the articles has several specifications in it. In each article is recited the fact that Mr. Renfroe did so and so, and that he did it illegally and corruptly. Mr. Cummings proposed to divide the inquiry on these articles so that four questions might be asked bject was to complete the symmetry and earness of the votes of the senators, so that ported resolutions in honor of the deceased. The resolutions were adopted and placed upon the record of the meeting. William Evarts, H. H. Stuart, of Virginia, and Chief Justice Waite, who on Wednesday were appointed to consider those portions of the president's address of the votes of the vote of "guilty or not guilty." He elaborated this idea in a speech that showed his usual power and eloquence. While of course the close that showed his usual power and eloquence. While of course the close arguing of a legal proposition is less interesting to the general audience than a speech upon general topics, Mr. Cumming so illumined his argument that it secured the closest attention. Mr. Cumming has a manner that is perfect, and his diction is probably the purest and most chaste that is probably the purest and most chaste that i probably the purest and most chaste that is at the command of any senator. His speech occupied the whole of the afternoon session, and it really seemed that it left little to be said on either side of the question at issue.

Mr. Preston opened the debate yesterday morning in a short, but pertinent speech. He did not argue the merits of the case, but simply indorsed the order of Mr. Cumming. His speech was delivered with his usual spirit and eloquence.

The first speech against the order, and the ablest and most statesmanlike was made by President Lester. This gentleman rarely speaks, but when he does he has something of importance to say, and he says it forcibly and to a listening audience. He never falls etrayed by prejudice or sentiment. His peech on yesterday was a model of straight forward, manly argument, rising easily here and there into bursts of eloquence. It was strong, closely knit together, and was one of the most statesmanlike speeches devered in the senate this session. Senator Harrison followed in a short, imetuous and strong speech in support of the rder. He did not offer a technical argunent, but stood upon the broad grounds of quity and justice. He analyzed the arti-les with rare clearness, and showed that to orce the senate to cover all the questions ontained in one article by one vote would contained in one article by one vote would prevent the senate from properly expressing its opinion. He held that the fact might exist without being illegal or corrupt, that it might even be illegal without being corrupt, and that it would be wrong to force the senators to meet all these issues with one vote. He alluded in elocated and investigated terms to the freedom. wrong to force the senators to meet all these issues with one vote. He alluded in eloquent and impassioned terms to the freedom and earnestness with which he accorded to every senator the most perfect integrity of action and purity of notive, and to the formers with which he accorded to every senator with which he accorded to every senator the most perfect integrity of action and purity of notive, and to the formers with which he accorded to every senator the most perfect integrity of action and purity of notive, and to the se with which he demanded the sam

Senator Clarke then made the next elabor and his effort of yesterday was probably the strongest he has yet made. He was free in his modes of thought and expression, and showed more of the orator and less of the lawyer than is usual in his speeches. Some of his flights were superb and impassioned, and afforded both pleasure and surprise to the listeners. Senator Clarke is one of the best lawyers in the senate, or in the state or that matter. Senator Cabaniss was the next speaker in upport of the order. Always a dashing, doquent talker, Mr. Cabaniss went beyond yesterday he held the audience well hand, and spoke with effect. He said of enator Lester, that while he had loved of follow him in the past and expected to to follow him in the past and expected to follow him in the future, he must say of some of the points made in his speech of the morning that they did not rise to the dignity of sophistry. He then argued that the order of Mr. Cumming's would injure no senator, nor abridge the rights of any—while the failure to pass it would seriously embarrass many of the senators, and force them to personal explanations in hem to personal explanations in asting their votes. He then took up the charges against Mr. Renfroe, stating that he gist of all of them were contained in hree charges, and that he would consider hem in inverse order. He argued the nerits of the case more closely and perti-nently perhaps than any other speaker and mple of many similar passages in his in his mania for each. He alluded to the fact that men was badly crippled peech. He ainded to the fact that men high in position had come to the capital, and were lobbying the senate to influence the enators to acquit Mr. Renfroe, and threaten-ng that if he was removed the people if Georgia would re-elect him by 100,000 of Georgia would re-elect him by 100,000 majority. This brought Mr. Cummings to his feet with the demand that Mr. Holcombe specify who he alluded to, and with the further statement that it was unjust to make such general assaults and leave the name open. Mr. Holcombe replied that he did not choose to give the name, but that if the man he was alluding to was to come and object to his language he would take him into the lobby and say, "You are the man!"

THE DEBATE ON THE ORDER will doubtless continue through the day, and it is uncertain whether or not a vote will be reached this evening. Mr. Hol-combe is stil lon the floor, and it is said Mr. Dullose, Mr. Cumming, Mr. McDaniel and possibly others are yet to speak. There were a score or so of private lists circulating yesterday to show precisely what the vote would be, but each of them differed from the would be, but each of them differed from the other and probably all were wrong. There is no predicting what the result will be until the votes are cast. We may say that while the debate has been strong and intense, and the feeling very pronounced, and with a flavor of occasional bitterness, that the amenities of the senate are undisturbed, and that the senators, outside of the debate, are cordial, harmonious and good tempered. The impeachment debates have developed the fact that the present is the strongest senate that has a sembled in Georgia since the war.

I was appointed superintendent of the Western and Atlantic railroad by Governor Jenkins prior to the inauguration of military government in the state under the reconstruction acts. I held the position up to the time of the removal of Governor Jenkins by the military. I then notified General Meade I would resign. My self-respect forbid my holding an office after the removal of my superior, from whom my appointment was received, but would remain in the management of the road until he could find a suitable successor. In a day or two, or perhaps more, I received an urgent letter from Governor Jenkins insisting that I should continue in charge of the state's property where he had placed me until removed to the total continue in charge of the state's property where he had placed me until removed to the hadventer that it was a duty I should continue in charge of the state's property where he had placed me until removed by the bayone's; that it was a duty to the people of Georgia to remain and protect their property as long as I could do so. ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 4, 1879. Tug movement of the cotton crop in September shows that more is finding an outlet at New Orleans and through St. Louis and less at the Atlantic ports than last year. New Orleans expects an increase of fully 250,000 bales as compared with last season, and it is very probable that St. Louis' receipts will be doubled. This means one of two things-a corresponding loss at the Atlantic ports or a crop considerably larger than last year's.

The people who are now taxed forty millions a ear to maintain a much-officered force of 25,000 will, on the other hand, be the more apt to inquire why so many troops are kept east of the Mississippi river, and so few where outbreaks of hostile Indians are to be apprehended. Of course, in a country as large as this, a detachment may now and then be overwhelmed. but the chances of such disasters would be lessened if every available soldier was placed where he could serve the country to the best advantage. Instead of increasing the army, let us first use the soldiers that are now on the pay-rolis.

WE hope no one will ask us, who will be elected governor of Ohio next Tuesday week? for we neither know nor think we know. It is one of the glorious uncertainties of politics. But we think we can see far enough into the October millstone to safely predict the election of a democratic legislature in that state. The police muddle hangs fire as we write. The board of police commissioners is composed of two republicans and two regular or Robinson democrats. They met on Tuesday at twelve o'clock to appoint four inspectors of election for each polling place two from each of the parties of the state. Two republican inspectors for each precinct were readily appointed, and so was one anti-Tamman spector for each poll. The two repub lican commissioners then refused to com plete the anti-Tammany list, and the session lasted all through Tuesday night and far into Wednesday. The net result of the night session was the appointment of five alleged Tammany inspectors, every one of whom, it is said, will support Governor Robinson. On Wednesday the commissioners were stopped by an order from the general term of the supreme court to show cause why a mandamus should not issue compelling them to appoint the fourth inspector from the list presented by Tammany hall. About 600 elections districts remain unsupplied with a fourth inspector. Mayor Cooper has also summoned the members of the board to appear before him to show cause why they should not be removed from office for permitting the months of August and September to elapse without appointing inspectors of election and poll clerks. Here the matter stands at our latest advices. Although the matter is both interesting and important the agents of the associated press do not seem to think that MISS M. M. O'BRYAN.....PRINCIPAL the people of the south care anything about it. We have therefore to rely on the mails for late news relating to the muddle that has grown out of the Cornell-Kelly conspiracy to defeat Governor Robinson. It is only necessar to add that New York will not be disfranchised. The general term will either compel the appointment of the fourth inspector before the first day of registration, next Tuesday, or else it will hold that three inspectors are competent to hold the election in each district. Either way Tammany will be left out in the cold, unless the bargain with the Cornell crowd holds good when no repre

A CAREFULLY CONDUCTED SYSTEM OF scientific experiments with remedies long in use by the most eminent medical men has resulted in the selection of such of them in such proportion and method of combining as seemed best adapted to permanently cure this dreadful disease, and our efforts have culminated in this preparation, and we believe that it will cure more cases than any remedy now in use. HUTCHISON & BRO., 14 Whitehall street, Atlanta, Georgia.

M. C. & J. F. KISER & CO.,

Dry Goods, Boots, Shoes, Hats and Notions, Corner of Pryor and Wall Streets, ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

In calling your attention to our House we feel that we hazard nothing in saying that we offer to the trade the largest and best assorted stock of any House in the South, comprising FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, BOOTS, SHOES AND HATS, AT PRICES THAT CANNOT BE MET. FOR THE FOLLOWING REASONS:

FIRST—All our Foreign Goods were bought in Europe, direct from the manufacturers, in person, by our Mr. J. F. KISER, for the ready cash, saying all the discounts; by so doing we are enabled to compete with any House in America. We mention a few of the leading goods in this line:

Alpacas, Black and Colored Cashmeres, Velvets, Velveteens, Dress Goods, Fronting Lineus, Table Damasks, Towels, Doylies, Lace Curtains, French, Swiss and Nottingham Laces, Hamburg Edging, Notions, etc.

Award we say it with no boastful feeling, that we are the only House in our line, south of Baltimore who import their goods.

SECOND—All of our Kentucky Jeans, Flannels, and Woolens, of every description, together with Domestics, were bought before the advance prices, so that we are in a condition, in this line, to give the advantages of low prices.

THIRD—Special attention has been given to our NOTION, HOSIERY AND GLOVE DEPARTMENT, and we know that we can supply your abts in these lines at prices AS LOW AS THELOWEST.

FOURTH—In the BOOTAND SHOE line, we have to say that our orders for the largest stock, numbering thousands of cases, were placed as ARLY AS THE EARLISST, and at prices that defysuccessful competition, and we ask that you give this Department of our business a personal inspector before buying or giving your orders, believing we can make it greatly to your interest. This line is full and complete in every particular.

FIFTH—Our HAT DEPARTMENT is second to none, and embraces a full line of MEN'S, BOYS', YOUTH'S and CHILDREN'S HATS, in every yele, also Women's trimmed and untrimmed. We combine all of the above lines in one business, reducing the expense of doing business, which we ye our customers the benefit of. ustomers the benear or. tend to the Trade a hearty invitation when visiting our city to call upon uf and take a look through our stock, We rou of the facts stated and that it is to your financial interest to buy your stock of us. If you do not, will con white you do take a sale and that it is by your make the soly your moders, to which we will find special attention. Thanking the Trade for past favors we solicit a M. C. & J.
